The grand jury of Castre county recently returned indictments charging arison against Morgan and wife. Mrs. Morgan was held by the officers of that county while the sheriff and his deputies searched for Morgan. He was located at Sweetwater.

On November 6 the Morgan home, a two room house on the Dr. Wolford ranch near Springlake planture, was burned. It was alleged by Mrs. Morgan was held by the officers of that one of the house caught fire what two room house on the Dr. Wolford ranch near Springlake planture, was burned at the base militance. Rushing back to the house that the bouse was blown comming from the house with an armful of beading. Just then a terrific explosion occurred and the house was blown to atomis a can of gusoline having exploded. Her statement further was that her husband out in the spring was made and little children looked belplezely on.

Sparch of the rains was made and the neighbors found buckles from the man's trousers, a few coins, his purse, a mutilated watch, a shoulder blade, a few ribe, back bone and a heart. Over the supposed remains of the lamented man, neighbors watched that night and soon afterward burial was made, full Masonic rites being administered, Mrs. Morgan stating that he was a member of that order. A purse of about $250 was made up in the neighborhood and given to Mrs. Morgan.

Morgan was insured in two companies, holding one $5000 policy and another for $2500. Both companies issued their checks for the amount, satisfactory death claims having been made, and the Plainview representatives of the companies held checks ready to turn over to the supposed widow.

Overhearing a conversation in a Plainview garage in which one of the miss stated that he had known Morgan for many years and that his record was questionable. Hal A. Wofford, a Plainview insurance man, wheel his company that proceedings should be stayed in the matner until further notice. In the meantime the lodge, under whose auspices the service was held, had made efforts to find out what lodge Morgan belonged two degrees of the Masonic lodge, but that he had not been given the other degrees.

HOWARD W. PERRIN

O NCE upon a time Howard W. Perrin risliculed golf, and called the game idiotic. He couldn't understand how anyone could become interested in knocking a little ball about with a stick. Then he tried it, and became the most enthusia-tic of golf enthusiasts. Now he has been chosen president of the United States Golf association. Mr. Perrin, who is a Philadelphian, has won many golf medals and twice captured the Philadelphia championship many golf inseids and twice captured the death in a canttarium suffering with a cancer. She later died and an unsuccessful attempt was made to collect the insurance. He murried the woman who had impersonated his wife Her life was insured by him, it is reported, and some time afterward she was found dead in her bed, a revolver in het hand. Morgan was the beneficiary of the policy. The insurance company contested and suit was filed. Judge Huff, now on the bench of the court of civil appeals, seventh Texas district, it is alleged, presided in the trial. Developments were such that he took the case from the jury and gave a judgment for the insurance company.
